Attractions in the Kingdom of Fife include Dunfermline Abbey in the town which was the nation’s ancient capital and intriguing Falkland Palace set in the middle of an enchanting conservation village.

In Perthshire you can go back in time to experience life in an Iron-Age dwelling at the Scottish Crannog Centre or experience country living at one of the area’s splendid castles.

In Loch Lomond & The Trossachs you can experience the splendour of Loch Lomond from two very different architectural viewpoints, experience the bygone area of steam with a cruise on Loch Katrine or visit the castle that witnessed the comic genius of the Monty Python team.
DAY 1 - PERTHSHIRE

Scone Palace – the grand and impressive ancient capital and religious gathering place of the Picts. It has served as the seat of parliaments and the crowning place of the Kings of Scots, including Macbeth and Robert the Bruce. Art treasures include furniture, clocks, ivories, paintings and tapestries, the gardens include a Pinetum containing giant redwoods and noble firs!

Scottish Cannong Centre – one of the more unusual structures to be found amid the Perthshire countryside, the Scottish Cannong Centre is a faithful recreation of a traditional Bronze Age loch-dwelling found in the Loch Tay area round 2,500 years ago. The Centre tells the story of why these ancient people built their homes in the water and lets you experience first-hand how they lived.

Fergusson Gallery – of all Scotland’s art galleries, Perth’s Fergusson Gallery must be one of the most unusual, as it’s located in the city’s former water tower! The gallery celebrates the life and work of Scottish Colourist J.D. Fergusson (1874-1961), one of the most influential and important Scottish artists of the 20th Century, and his wife Margaret Morris an innovator in the field of dance.

Stanley Mills – is one the best preserved relics of the 18th-century Industrial Revolution. Textiles were produced for over 200 years in the mill, built in this location so it could be powered by the water pressure in an adjacent bend of the River Tay. Hear the stories of those who worked there and the products they made thanks to a new high-tech visitor experience.

DAY 2 - KINGDOM OF FIFE

Dunfermline Abbey – Dunfermline was once Scotland’s ancient capital and ancient history awaits around every corner at Dunfermline Abbey, founded in the 11th century. The Abbey church is the last resting place of many Scottish kings and queens including King Robert the Bruce. King Charles I was born here in 1600, the last king to be born in Scotland.

Scottish Fisheries Museum – situated in picturesque Anstruther Harbour, the Museum tells the story of how, through a constant process of innovation, the Scottish fisheries became such an important part of the lives of Scottish people. Exhibits include wonderful examples of historic fishing boats and gear as well as artefacts and images which illustrate the geography and social structures of fishing communities.

Swilcan Burn Bridge – of all the world’s best known bridges, one of the most famous must be the tiny Swilcan Burn Bridge on the celebrated Old Course at St Andrews, known as the Home of Golf. The bridge lies between the first and eighteenth fairways and has itself become an important cultural icon in the sport of golf.

Cambo Estate and Gardens – Cambo’s Secret Garden has been described as a plantsman’s paradise. Hidden within ancient walls, the garden has been superbly designed with naturalistic, modern plantings contrasting with traditional Victorian garden complete with box hedges, lilacs and roses galore. In spring, Cambo is one of the main venues in the annual Snowdrop Festival.

Stanley Mills – is one the best preserved relics of the 18th-century Industrial Revolution. DAY 3 - DUNDEE & ANGUS

Discovery Point/Verdant Works – discover one of the reasons why Dundee is known as the ‘City of Discovery’ as you board the Dundee-built RRS Discovery – the actual vessel which carried Captain Scott and his crew on their remarkable Antarctic expedition. Then visit Verdant Works which weaves the tale of Dundee’s jute trade with the splash of the waterwheel in the background. This mill was at the heart of the community. A real miller will demonstrate this disappearing craft with the splash of the waterfall in the background.

Barry Mill – a magnificent example of Scotland’s industrial heritage. Though Barry Village in which it is situated is now a tranquil rural place, you discover during your visit what life was like here when this 18th Century grain mill was at the heart of the community. A real miller will demonstrate this disappearing craft with the splash of the waterfall in the background.

Arbroath Abbey – founded in 1178 by order of King William the Lion, it is here the famous Declaration of Arbroath – a declaration of Scotland’s independence from England – is believed to have been written in 1320, following King Robert the Bruce’s victory at the Battle of Bannockburn in 1314. A display tells the story of the day the famous Stone of Destiny came to the abbey in 1951.

DAY 4 - LOCH LOMOND & THE TROSSACHS

Loch Lomond Shores – when it was constructed in 2002, Drumkinnon Tower at Loch Lomond Shores was described as a modern take on a traditional Scottish castle. Today it houses an aquarium and a nearby retail offering including an outlet of Jenners of Edinburgh, known as ‘the Harrods of the North’, not to mention the amazing views of the Loch itself from this vantage point.

Doune Castle – This 14th century courtyard castle in Doune has a striking 100ft high gatehouse and one of the best preserved great halls in Scotland. The castle was used as a film location for the film Monty Python and the Holy Grail and a hugely popular TV series Outlander. There’s an audio tour of the castle narrated by Monty Python’s Terry Jones and a recently introduced nature trail in the castle grounds.

Luss, Loch Lomond – Luss is an enchanting conservation village on the eastern shore of Loch Lomond. The community largely comprised of picturesque cottages with quirky individually designed gardens, and there are a number of cafes to enjoy a tasty snack. Walk through the village to the edge of the Loch – a popular embarkation point for loch cruises.
