Distance from RRS Discovery to Ballumbie Golf Club is 5 miles/ 8 km

Ballumbie Golf Club

Ballumbie is a new facility ideally placed on the outskirts of Dundee. With a good driving range and comfortable clubhouse, it is a welcome addition to the local golf scene. Though the course is young, it is settling well with the turf knitting together to form a good golfing base. The terrain sweeps and turns with no two holes the same and it is more accommodating to a considered approach. Most clubs will be used but not necessarily a driver off every tee, especially for the first six holes.

Kingennie Golf Club

Kingennie golf course was designed by renowned Scottish golf course architect Graeme Webster. The nature of the risk and reward course design means it provides a challenge for both the beginner and the more accomplished golfer. Although this course may not be one of the longest you may have played the challenge comes from the risk factor and whether you are prepared to take these on. The course features U.S.G.A specification greens, an extensive drainage system and an irrigation system in the greens and tees.

Montrose Links Golf Club

Montrose Links offers a fantastic golfing experience and reliable playing conditions throughout the year. The 1562 Course is a challenge for any golfer. This is a traditional Scottish links course with springy turf that grows only close to the sea, dunes, gorse, deep bunkers and tall wavy grass that changes colour and dances in the wind. The Broomfield Course is ideal for juniors, families and those wishing to 'get their eye in' before taking on the 1562 Course. Being relatively flat, the Broomfield can be somewhat deceptive as it still requires a high degree of skill.
