Auld Alliance Kiltmakers

Led by artisan duo Mathilde and Jonathan, a husband-and-wife team dedicated to preserving and sharing the rich heritage of Scottish Highland dress. Through bespoke kilts and elegant tartan accessories, they offer clients authentic, lasting pieces crafted with exceptional skill. Their private talks and workshops—hosted in charming venues across Edinburgh's Old Town and beyond—invite your clients on a journey through the history and evolution of tartan and Highland dress, from the Feileadh-mòr (great kilt) to modern tailored kilts. Recognised as practitioners of an endangered craft, they demonstrate the intricate, handsewn process of kiltmaking, offering hands-on experiences such as pleating tartan and exploring its creative possibilities. Each session concludes with a thoughtful tartan keepsake, ensuring guests leave with both knowledge and a tangible memory of their time.

Kelpies at the Helix Park

The world's first guided aerial exploration of the largest equine sculptures on the planet. Led by expert guides, visitors ascend through a thrilling network of cables, ladders, and suspended platforms to reach the horses' mouths—an unforgettable vantage point. The descent offers a choice between a free hanging abseil or the breathtaking Quick Flight rope drop. Throughout the experience, guides reveal the rich history of Scotland's canals, the vital role of the Clydesdale Horse, and the creative vision of world-renowned sculptor Andy Scott. Each Kelpie is a stunning feat of engineering, weighing 300 tonnes—the equivalent of 300 Clydesdale Horses—and constructed from over 18,000 individual components. This immersive journey not only offers adrenaline-pumping adventure but also deepens appreciation for the artistry and heritage behind these iconic landmarks.

Millers & Merchants Half Day Tour

Tasting History Ayrshire Tours (THAT co.) presents the Millers and Merchants Tour, a captivating journey into Ayrshire's textile and lace heritage. This immersive experience offers a rare glimpse into the region's industrial past, including a visit to working lace manufacturer, MYB Textiles, that still employs original Victorian techniques. Guests will also explore a Grade B Historic Building—formerly a functioning bank for 124 years—and its adjoining bank manager's house, both of which hold historical ties to the lace industry. Designed for those with an interest in local history, Scottish textile development, and the lives of both manual and white-collar workers, the tour highlights how lace and textile production shaped fashion, trade, and community. The experience includes lunch at Lamblash House and promises engaging storytelling throughout.

MYB Textiles

Renowned for their craftsmanship, these textile artisans have been exclusively weaving Scottish lace and Madras sheers since 1900. Your clients are immersed in a sensory journey—where the sights, sounds, and scents evoke a bygone era of traditional manufacturing. Inside, 120-year-old lace machines delicately weave sheer fabrics, while the Vamatex Madras loom produces a distinctive clipped face textile. As one meanders through the historic mill, the process unfolds like a living museum: cloth is woven, darned, and mended by hand, culminating in a beautifully finished product. It's a rare glimpse into heritage preserved through skill, patience, and artistry.
